

Besides these it seems to be a fact that in the spring of 1912 A.E.Hammond of Van Buren bought five gasoline log haulers from Lombard with Lombard engines; that Fraser Company of Edmunston was sold ten gas haulers that summer; a large wall picture, framed, purportedly showing this shipment exists. Other than the No. 7 machine, that is apparently the Fairfield road-scraping tractor, there is no systematic paper record of any of the above in the Lombard records. It is believed that there may be twenty-five or more machines made at Waterville entirely absent from any record, memory, or picture. It is the opinion that Barron may have made as many as twenty machines in Elizabeth in 1918; a large wall picture exists showing a lineup of a few of his machines in front of the Elizabeth shop.

This means that there may be as many as seventy-five Lombard gasoline machines that are not in the following list taken from systematic record keeping. The above, derived from various sources, is all that we can presently say about them.

The list of known gasoline machines:
